STUPENDOUS AMOUNT OF MONEY REQUIRED

If Huns Are To Be Asked To Pay Allies' Costs of War—Clemenceau Now Out of Danger.

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Feb. 21—Premier Clemenceau's condition this forenoon is announced as satisfactory as possible under the conditions.

A member of his household previously said he will be out of danger within 48 hours.

The bullet which wounded Premier Clemenceau penetrated his lungs, it was revealed by the official statement.

The official statement reads: "The hemorrhage which occurred at one o'clock yesterday demonstrated that the bullet penetrated the lungs. An X-ray examination disclosed the precise location of the bullet. The general condition is satisfactory. Temperature 98.4; pulse 72; nourishment is normal."

After the X-ray examination had been completed Premier Clemenceau walked out on the balcony of his house, overlooking the garden, to take a breath of fresh air. The morning was a delightful one, the first real spring day. The Premier seemed vigorous, although he spat a little blood.

Later today the doctors considered Clemenceau out of danger and authorized the Supreme Council at his home this afternoon to discuss certain important matters. His physicians believed he could resume his political activities today.

Meanwhile speed is being made by the special commission of peace council determining the huge amount the enemy will have to pay for reparation. This is taking such form that it may have to be referred to the heads of the various governments, owing to the seriousness of the main issues presented. This turns principally on whether the cost to the various countries in conducting war will be included in the claim for reparation for damages. The total sum would swell the aggregate to a sum so stupendous that doubts are raised concerning Germany's ability to meet it.

McDougle's Board At Work

The State Textbook Commission, of which Prof. E. C. McDougle, of this city, is a member, has come to the conclusion after careful comparison of the new law with the old and consultation with the Attorney General that it may change as many of the textbooks in use in the common schools and high schools as it chooses in not more than 50 per cent of the subjects.

This gives the commission the right to change possibly as many as 80 per cent of the books now in the schools, because certain subjects have more textbooks than others. Gov. Stanley however, has openly stated that he believes the commission should make as few changes as possible.

The commission continues to meet in executive session, as required by law, to adopt the various books.

Suppose you were looked upon as one with high social standing, and you had promised to love, honor and provide for one of your father's working girls, without his knowledge. Suppose your cousin, who is in love with you, tells you that your wife has been seen at twelve o'clock at night saying goodbye to one of the most widely known rogues of the city.
